How can doctors participate in primary care research

ALL DOCTORS CAN:
1. Generate clinical questions
2. Keep great clinical records
3. Participate in clinical studies led by academics
4. Join a PBRN

SOME DOCTORS MAY:
1. Learn research methods
2. Find mentors
3. Start small with answerable questions that may not need funding
4. Work with teams on ‘big’ questions
5. Develop depth in an area through systematic study
6. Present and publish findings
And then you might.....

- Take formal training in research methods
- Write a grant
- Join an academic department
